Straw Hat Chat FOR ONE WEEK.

Wonderful, the style and comfort tacked together with straw.
 Some men are just stubborn enough to look into their five-dollar derby for the label and then think of a straw hat. If the label leads you no nearer the better than a thought, you are a couple dollars in, provided your thought leads you here.
 All the hats' styles and some of our own.
 Price, all our own—50c.

HOW TO MAKE CABINET PUDDINGS.

Cold Dainties For a Delicous, Warm Weather Dessert.

Butter and sugar 6 small earthen cups; small teacups will do, as they do not appear on the table. Fill them about half full of "lady fingers" cut in dice and mixed evenly with 2 tablespoonfuls of currants and 1 candied citron cut in the thinnest bits. Prepare a custard of a pint of cold milk, 3 eggs and 4 tablespoonfuls of sugar. Season the mixture with one-quarter of the yellow rind of a lemon and pour the custard gradually on the pieces of "lady fingers" in the mold, so that it will be absorbed. Set the cups in boiling water as before, and let the pudding bake 40 minutes. Set them away to be cold, and then put them on the ice.

When they are well chilled serve them with a sauce of whipped cream. Beat to a stiff froth half a pint of rich cream. Add 2 heaped tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, sifting it in. Continue to beat and add slowly half a cup or a wineglass of maraschino or cherry if more convenient. Serve the puddings on a low crystal platter, each surrounded by the whipped cream sauce. Sprinkle over the cream a teaspoonful of bright green candied angelica cut in bits and a teaspoonful of candied cherries cut in quarters.

How to Carve.

The carving knife must be very sharp, not heavy, and should be held firmly in the hand. The dish should not be too far from the carver, who should always accustom himself to do the work when sitting. Remember that the middle part of a fish is generally the best, and in helping it avoid breaking the flakes, for that will give a mangled appearance. In carving, never send anybody the outside piece unless you know he prefers it. Remember that all carving, even of poultry and birds, depends more on skill than on strength. By observing quietly you can easily acquire a knowledge of joints and of the process of carving, which a little daily practice will speedily convert into dexterity. In arranging a plate never put one piece of meat on another, but side by side.

How Hot the Sun Is.

The volume of the sun is about 1,000,000 times greater than that of the earth, and its distance from us in round figures about 93,000,000 miles; and since we every day see the wonderful effects of the heat and light which even this world of ours receives, we can form some faint idea of the enormous amount of heat continually given out by the sun and the prodigious waste that must be going on. Rossetti's estimate of 1,800 degrees F. as the most probable measure of the heat at the surface of the sun has been accepted as reasonable by many of the best authorities. That is five times the highest temperature that man can produce artificially. By the help of the bolometer, Professor Langley estimated that the sun's heat is 87 times stronger than that of molten metal in a bessemer furnace. It is calculated that only something like one-half three-hundred-and-eighty-one-millionth part of the sun's heat reaches us, and therefore the whole amount really passes either comprehension or calculation, and what becomes of the heat that goes off into space is a great trouble to astronomers.

How to Cook Veal Steaks.

These are delicious broiled as beef-steak over a hot fire. The steak should be thinner than beefsteak to cook quickly through, and when taken up on a heated platter should be spread with a little butter and sprinkled with salt and pepper. Take 1 1/4 pound of veal steak, pound with sharp end of a small hammer and proceed as above. Or place in a pan with a lump of butter, salt and pepper sprinkled lightly over it, also a little flour, and bake in a hot oven about half an hour. This is truly delicious.

How to Remove Various Stains.

Linen slightly scorched often loses these marks if damped and laid in the sun. For tea and berry stains, let the cloth be held by one person while another pours boiling water through the stains. With children's clothing or table linen the stains must be removed before they go to the wash, as the soapy water usually only sets them in more firmly. Many spots can be effaced by simply rubbing them in pure soft rain-water. Ink spilt on carpets or felts should be washed out immediately with milk. Ink on mahogany can be removed by touching the spot with a feather having been dipped in a teaspoonful of water mixed with a few drops of oil of vitriol.

Information for Tourists.

A passenger by the last Colonial steamer was met on the dock by a Milesian American friend, who resides in Honolulu. As the pair waited to have the newcomer's grippeack scrawled over with chalk marks by the Customs Inspector at the gate the stranger remarked to his friend "Do you 'ave much rain 'ere?" RAINIER me boy, gallons of it, just come up to the Anchor Saloon where they keep it always, clear and cool. We'll just be in time for lunch too and that's the only place in town where they serve it up in proper style with a glass of RAINIER BEER to equilibrialize the solids—They went!
